

MONTGOMERY'S AEROPLANE COLLAPSES IN AIR AND AERONAUT MALONEY FALLS TO HIS DEATH

AWFUL SCENE AT COLLEGE

Thousands of People See the Brave Young Fellow Fall Three Thousand Feet.

SAN JOSE, July 18.—With women fainting and men sobbing, brave and popular Daniel Maloney, who has made numerous public ascensions with Prof. Montgomery's famous aeroplane, fell 3,000 feet to his death at Santa Clara this morning.

The Ascension This Morning.

Professor Montgomery had announced an ascension this morning from the grounds of Santa Clara College in honor of the League of the Cross Cadets, who are holding their annual encampment in that town.

The announcement attracted probably 2,000 people, who shortly after 10 o'clock watched with absorbing interest the airy machine as it shot up from the college garden attached to a huge balloon, and with Maloney firmly seated in his usual position.

Machine Turns Over.

At a height of 4,000 feet Maloney cut loose and began maneuvering the aeroplane.

He circled gracefully about for some minutes, having the machine apparently under perfect control.

Then he essayed a deep dip. Suddenly the machine swerved, hesitated, and then turned completely over.

He Plunged Downward.

It righted itself, sank down a considerable distance, and turned again.

Maloney was clinging desperately to his seat and evidently endeavoring to gain his control.

But all his efforts were vain.

Again the aeroplane turned in the air, and this time the wings came together and the man and machine plunged straight downward, while the horrified spectators gazed helplessly upward.

Fell to the Ground.

For a distance of probably a thousand feet the aeronaut fell, still clinging to the machine.

Both alighted in the rear of the tannery.

Amidst shrieks and groans many of the spectators rushed to the scene, while others turned away, weeping.

A number of cadets first reached the unconscious man, and picking him up they conveyed him to the college hospital.

His head was fractured and blood was flowing from his ears and mouth.

He expired within a short time.

Aeroplane Total Wreck.

The aeroplane, which was constructed from the toughest oak, procurable, was ground into small fragments.

Montgomery Irrational.

The physicians say that Maloney was practically dead when picked up; his pulse was fluttering, but barely perceptible, and there was no further sign of life.

Professor Montgomery is so distracted and shocked by the tragedy that at times he is irrational.

Seventh Accident.

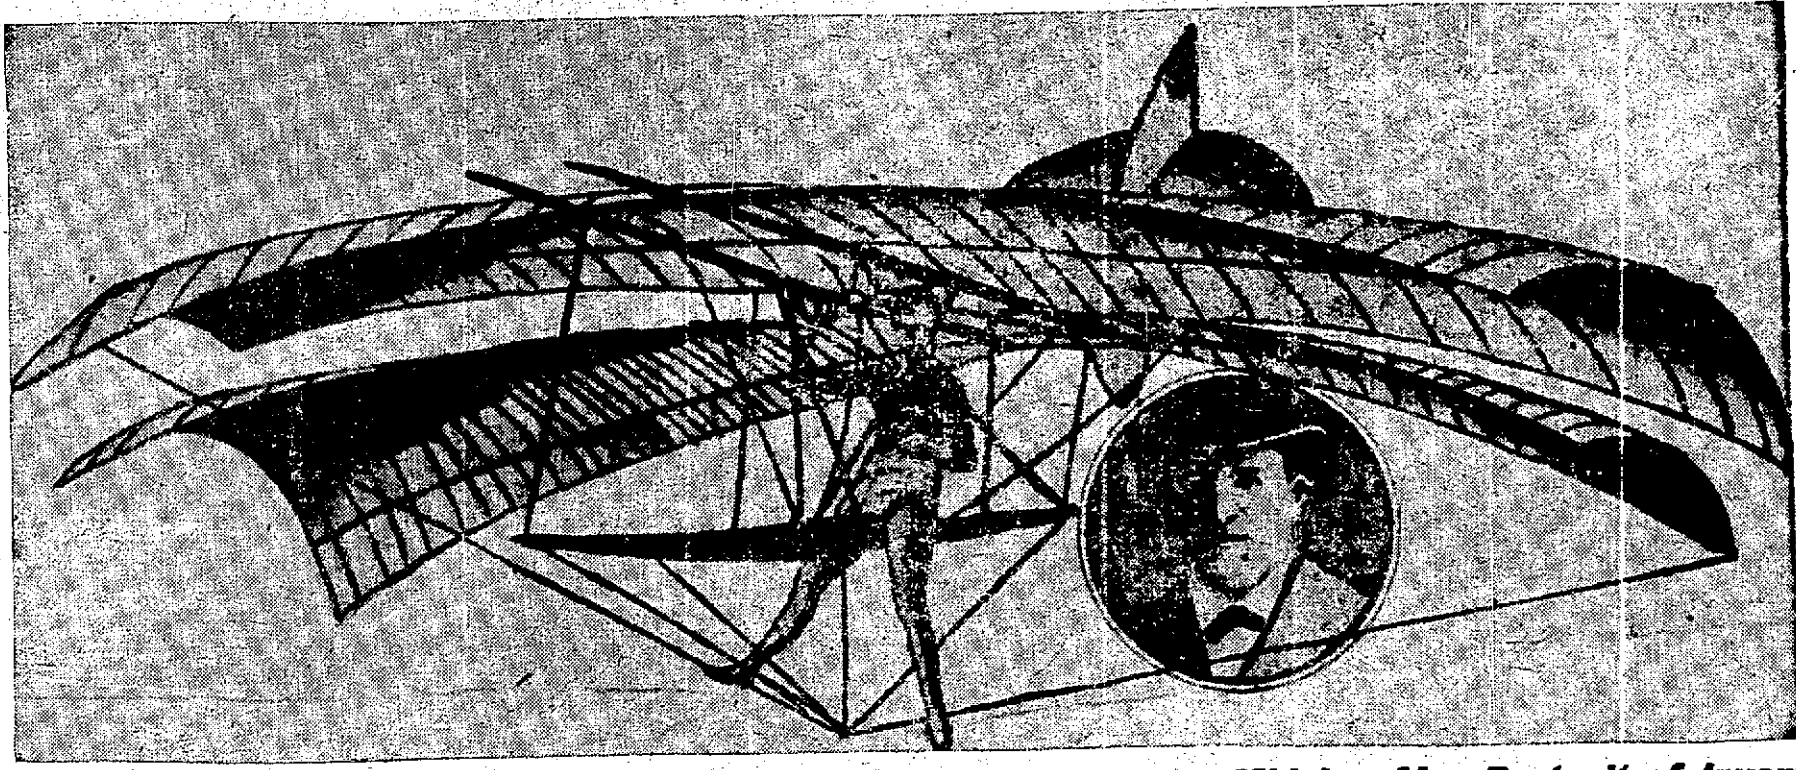

This is the seventh accident that has occurred to the aeroplane during the past few months, but those that have previously occurred were before the ascensions, which were prepared on account of them.

It is believed by those who are familiar with the machine that a rope caught over one of the wings, making the aeroplane unmanageable.

Sign of Absolution.

In the tangle the wing doubtless was broken, and the aeronaut thus rendered helpless.

Prof. Bell of the college was the first to observe that something was wrong with the machine, and as Maloney began to fall, Prof. Bell

WOMAN IS KILLED BY THE LOCAL TRAIN

She Was Reading a Message of Love From Her Husband When Run Down.

While returning from the postoffice, where she had received a letter from her husband, Mrs. W. F. McDonald, aged about fifty years, was struck and almost instantly killed by the west-bound local train at Twenty-third Avenue station at 11:45 o'clock this morning.

When death overtook her she had barely finished reading the letter from her husband. The envelope and letter were found near her side by those who witnessed the accident.

She had been staying at the Buelah Home for the last two weeks. Her own home, however, was at 1659 Fourteenth Avenue, in San Francisco.

Those who saw the accident say that Mrs. McDonald did not see the approaching train until it came near her, and then she became confused, not knowing in what direction to jump. She was knocked about twenty feet to one side.

The injuries to the head and also internal injuries resulted in her death within a few minutes.

The passengers were about to take the local train for San Francisco.

The following is the letter which she received from her husband:

"My Dear Wife—Sunday I got home at just 12 o'clock, slept until five o'clock and got down to the office in time. When I got up today I found a letter from you under the door, and when I got to the office I found another one from you. Both letters had been misdirected.

"Everything at our home is the same. Tomorrow I will go to see Harry Steele. Will be back at 9 o'clock. Will write tomorrow or next day, so goodbye, with bushels of love to you, I remain, your husband.

"W. F. McDONALD."

"1659 Fourteenth Avenue, San Francisco."

 realizing that death must speedily follow, raised his hands in the air, and solemnly made the sign of absolution.

Was Not Married.

Maloney was not married, but he has a mother who resides in the Mission, San Francisco and numerous relatives also in that section of the city.

For a long time he made balloon ascensions in Glen Park, San Francisco, and for a year or so past has had charge of Prof. Montgomery's aeroplane, having made several successful ascensions.

Flight of His Life.

He was formerly a member of the League of the Cross Cadets, now camping at Santa Clara, and he made the ascension this morning on their account.

He was highly enthusiastic when starting, saying that he would make the greatest flight yet attempted.

He rose higher than ever before, but it was his last ascent.

AEROPLANE IN OAKLAND

In THE TRIBUNE of June 26 appeared the following about Prof. Montgomery's aeroplane:

BY JOHN H. PIERCE.

A bird with four wings and a tail that was simultaneously horizontal and perpendicular, no motive power whatever, a saddle swung centrally for a man to ride, and this was the Santa Clara, and near by was a sister ship of the air named the California. These were the essentials of what several thousand people paid twenty-five cents admission to the Emeryville race track to see sky shooting through the air. The time was Sunday, 3 p. m.

The sun shone in a cloudless sky, but the trade winds had a busy day, and wind is the terror of the aeronaut.

In France, where Montgomery invented balloons, they have built a hundred feet high surrounding spaces known as balloon parks, and there the wind is not a material hindrance, and a dozen hydrogen balloons frequently

REGENCY DEMANDED

Attempt Was to be Made to Depose the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 18, 12:05 p. m.—A sensational rumor is current here today that a large party of the Zemstvoist and Doumaist at Moscow are in favor of the proclamation of the deposition of Emperor Nicholas and the establishment of regency of the Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolai-evitch, the infant son of the Emperor and heir to the throne, under four Grand Dukes.

It is alleged that for this reason the meeting of the all-Russian Zemstvoist and Doumaist Congress, which was to take place tomorrow at Moscow, has been prohibited.

BURNED TO DEATH

Workman Comes in Contact With Live Electric Wire.

CHICO, July 18.—Patrick Kahler, employed in building a steel water tower for the Chico Water Company, came in contact with an electric wire carrying 2000 volts and was instantly killed.

Kahler was on a pole thirty feet high working his way down between high voltage wires.

His left elbow touched one of the wires and the flesh of the arm and over the heart was burned to the bone.

With the clothes blazing the body fell to the ground.

Kahler came here a few weeks ago from San Francisco where his mother and sisters now reside.

OPPRESSIVE HEAT IN PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, July 18.—Oppressive heat continues in Pittsburg and vicinity. Before noon today the mercury had reached 84, and the forecaster predicted that all records would be broken.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

Sebastopol is Visited by an Early Morning Blaze.

SANTA ROSA, July 18.—At an early hour this morning the town of Sebastopol was visited by a disastrous fire, which destroyed the new two-story Forsyth block, together with its contents, the entire loss being $35,000.

The burned block was occupied by Worth's drug store, Robinson and Company's millinery and notion store, and Jackson's bakery and grocery store.

The building had just been completed to replace one burned a few months ago.

The stocks were all new and the loss naturally was very heavy.

Sebastopol's new fire engine did good work, but for fear it might not be able to cope with the situation an appeal was sent to this city for assistance.

A special train carrying an extra fire engine, was sent over at once, but fire walls prevented the flames spreading beyond the Forsyth block. The telephone exchange was in Worth's drug store.

The losses are:

H. M. Forsyth, $20,000; T. R. Worth, $10,000; Robinson and Company, $2,500; Mr. Jackson, $3,500.

M. C. CHAPMAN IS BACK TO PRACTICE

M. C. Chapman, the well-known attorney, has returned from an outing to Santa Monica. He has completely recovered his health and has resumed his law practice at 357 Broadway.

Mr. Chapman has been slightly indisposed for a few weeks, but his complete rest has made him as vigorous as ever.

ISSUES WARRANT FOR HIS ARREST.

SACRAMENTO, July 18.—Today a warrant of arrest was issued from the Governor's office on requisition papers from the State of Texas for a man named Thomas W. Smith, wanted for embezzlement.

The requisition papers say Smith is in San Francisco and is working as a waiter.

WANTS A DIVORCE

Prince Phillip Asks For Legal Separation From His Wife.

GOtha, Duchy of Saxe Coburg and Gotha, July 18.—Prince Phillip of Saxe Coburg and Gotha today filed at the Provincial Court a petition for a divorce from his wife, the Princess Louise of Saxe Coburg and Gotha.

Princess Louise is the eldest daughter of the King of the Belgians. In 1897 she eloped with Count von Matsosch-Kelgevitich, a lieutenant of Austrian cavalry. Her subsequent confinement in a sanitarium and escape from her attendants caused sensations.

A medical commission in Paris recently declared the Princess to be sane and two days later it was announced that Prince Phillip had decided to begin proceedings for a divorce which, should he win, would relieve him of paying the Princess an allowance of $15,000 yearly, upon which she had been living in Paris. On the other hand it was pointed out that winning the suit also might be disadvantageous to the Prince, as the Princess might put in a counter claim on account of her confinement in a sanitarium.

MATERIAL FOR SIBERIAN RAILWAY

HAMBURG, July 18.—Prince Bilkoff, the Russian Railway Minister, who is now in this city, has contracted for five towing steamers and nine barges to transport material for double tracking the Siberian Railway.

ADMINISTRATOR'S AUCTION SALE

WE have received instructions to sell the fine furniture, piano, carpets, etc., of the late Captain A. Tanner, of 1200 Chestnut st., near Euclid ave., Alameda; sale, Wednesday, July 19th, at 11 a. m., comprising in part: 1 fine piano, 1 plush covered parlor suit, odd and/or pieces, lace curtains, Brussels carpets, sideboard, dining table and chairs to match, 1 massive bedroom suite, bedstead, half mattresses, pictures, 1 fine waterbed range, crockery, glass and china ware, etc., etc., all more and will be sold by J. A. Munro & Co., auctioneers, main office, 1200-7-9 Clay st., Oakland, 2 o'clock, Friday, July 19th.

3 WOMEN, 2 MEN AND BABY BURNED TO DEATH.

Explosion of a Lamp Causes a Fatal Fire in a Wabasha, Minn., Hotel.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 18.—At Wabasha, Minn., six persons were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the depot hotel early today. The dead: Mrs. Hoffman and young baby. Robert Johnson, expressman. Gertrude Stensher. Rebecca Herman. James Hunt. There may be other bodies in the ruins, which are being searched. The fire was caused by the explosion of a gas lamp in the hotel illuminating plant. Mrs. Hoffman was the proprietress of the hotel. She and her baby and the other victims were burned to death in their rooms. The fire, which started in the kitchen from an overturned lamp, spread so rapidly that it was impossible to save anything. The guests on the second floor managed to escape with but slight injuries, but escape from the third floor, where the proprietress and servants slept, was cut off by the flames, and they were burned to death in their beds, with the exception of Hunt. Hunt is said to have escaped from the building but later returned to aid in the rescue of others, and lost his life in the attempt.

MANY BARGAINS OFFERED

GREAT DISCOUNT SALE IS BE-ING CONDUCTED BY TAFT & PENNOYER.

There is a discount sale in progress at the great dry goods store of Taft & Pennoyer, at the southwest corner of Broadway and Fourteenth street, which will continue for some time. As a consequence, hundreds of people in this city and vicinity will be enabled to secure possession of articles of the finest character in almost every line which enters into the adornment either of the person or the home at the most reasonable rates. This sale has been inaugurated at this season of the year for the purpose of clearing out the store of any articles which may have been left over from the past season and to make way for entirely new goods from all parts of the world, because the wonderful foresight, comprehensive method of business of Taft & Pennoyer have laid the looms and the industries of the world under contribution to supply the demands of the discriminating patrons who bestow their favors upon this firm. Twice a year this discount clearing takes place, the other sale usually occurring about January to make way for the spring and summer goods.

AN IMMENSE STORE.

Proof of the value and indescribable variety of the goods of this firm may be obtained by a visit to the store, where it is apparent that the best which is offered by the looms, artisans and modistes of Europe may be found, as well as the best which is afforded by the active minds and deft fingers of home designers and workers.

BUYING IN EUROPE.

The members of the firm of H. C. Taft and A. A. Pennoyer are now in Europe, the former having reached there yesterday, the latter having been there for the past six weeks. Their presence there will soon be evidenced by invoices of the latest creations in silks, mantles, laces and bric-a-brac, consignments of which have already arrived, and the display of the same now waits only the making of room for their appropriate display. The presence of the gentlemen referred to in foreign parts is in furtherance of an annual custom of the firm being represented abroad in the interest of their patrons, Mrs. Gibbs of the cloak department sometimes representing the house abroad.

PURCHASING IN THE EAST.

What has been said of personal purchases abroad is also true of the acquisition of goods in the eastern part of the country. Many years ago Taft & Pennoyer abandoned the practice of buying goods upon the samples of drummers. They substituted for it a personally directed examination of the best things offered by all the Eastern houses. As a consequence, the Eastern assortments were found almost illimitable and from these the firm has been able to delight its customers as they never could have been delighted under the old drummer system. These Eastern purchases have been conducted by H. C. Taft, A. A. Pennoyer, Max Taft, Mrs. Gibbs and other attaches, heads of departments, all experts in their several lines. As a result there was an immediate and gratifying increase in the sale of all lines, which led to the increasing of the stock, the display and the capacity of the firm's quarters until now, with several thousand square feet of magnificent display windows, the firm occupies eight stores, comprising an area of about 35,000 square feet and twenty-seven departments, in which may be found everything which may be a necessity in an humble home or tent to the adornment of a mansion.

GRATIFYING SUCCESS.

The success which has attended the firm of Taft & Pennoyer is gratifying to the residents of this city, many of whom have had a personal acquaintance with the house extending over about thirty years. It is one of the great mercantile institutions, not only of Oakland, but also of the Pacific Coast. In building itself up it has also tended to the advancement of Oakland, because its employees are members of about 300 households in this city. Advancement is the purpose of the start within a few hours from one of these inclosures.

Lillenthal, Maxim and the Smithsonian professors have, however, abandoned the balloon idea in toto, the dirigible kind included, and yet after years of hard work and millions of money expended no one has made an aeroplane that would take in gate money.

Rapid Transit in Air.

This latter feat has, however, been accomplished by the Santa Clara College professor of mathematics, John J. Montgomery, and it is because he has combined the balloon and the aeroplane, something never done before, thus overcoming the almost insurmountable difficulty of launching the ship.

The untamed winds, nevertheless, made a sad wreck yesterday, when every one expected to see real navigation of the air.

The ether can be used for rapid transit, and if by birds why not for men?

We may not easily produce wings to beat the air, but the soaring bird moves not a feather in flight. He uses no apparent motive power, and this model, the buzzard for instance, seems simplicity itself, and it is "a lesson from the birds" that Professor Montgomery has been taking.

Has he discovered the secret of the passage of the crane, without a stroke of the wing, from the Arcto to the Gulf of Mexico, and again, six months later, the return voyage?

Montgomery's Solution.

To truly answer this question in the affirmative would be to place the name of this inventor beside the greatest the world has known, and the writer is not in a position to hazard even an opinion, and yet it would seem that Montgomery is moving toward the solution of the vexed problem of aerial navigation in accordance with the rules of nature to be seen every time one looks at a gull while crossing San Francisco bay.

That he has accomplished something beyond others is indicated by the lively interest manifested by the people and the press. If he has merely an improvement in parachutes, which at first glance seems to be the extent of the invention, the contrivance is well nigh worthless, but unless the reporters are all liars he has an aeroplane which, when perfected and mastered, become like the bicycle a steed that costs nothing to keep, and vastly superior to the bike, for it may jump over rivers and mountains.

Gives a Description.

And now to the facts of the affair at the race track.

A roped ring, a Montgolfier balloon, a surging mass of people and a busy bunch of policemen keeping the curious from interfering with the work on hand, which consisted of the usual preparations for filling a balloon with hot air, while the professor gave the reporters facts in regard to the flying machines.

The following are among the points imparted: The frame is hickory and pine. The wings are of cotton cloth. The front wings are rigid; the rear ones and the tail are subject to the aeronaut who is John Maloney, a

SPECIAL ENVOYS

Norwegian Government, Independent, Wants Recognition.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The Daily News says that the Independent Norwegian Government is prepared to ask official recognition from the United States, and that special envoys have been in this country some time looking over the ground as private citizens, prior to the assumption of diplomatic powers with which they have been invested, developed today with the return from New York of F. Hornemann Gade, Mayor of Lake Forest, Ill.

Mayor Gade is an active worker for an international status for Norway. He has been in New York for the last ten days in conference with J. Irgens, a special Norwegian envoy, who a few years ago was secretary of the Norwegian-Swedish commission that treated and dealt with the consular question. The conference included Christian Haugaa, who up to the time of his resignation a month ago was the Charge d'Affaires and secretary of the Norwegian-Swedish Legation at Washington. After consultations with such eminent international authorities as Professor Moore of Columbia University and John W. Foster, an informal document was drawn up for presentation to the State Department to serve as a "feeler" for the official document which may be expected to follow.

young man of about twenty-three. He has been a parachute jumper for seven years.

Hero of the Heavens.

This hero of the heavens appeared in a bath robe with a jockey's cap and under this garb he wore the tights and spangles of the showman. "Surely you will not tempt this howling wind?" was the query the writer made. Montgomery's answer was "Yes, we will come what may, and I want to say in the TRIBUNE that nothing could prevent us from trying to do as we advertised."

First a huge burlap screen was hoisted to catch the wind, but the masts buckled and it was finally lowered to avoid an accident. It was then apparent even to the inexperienced, that a wreck was more than probable.

Without any shield from the fury of the air the balloon lashings were cut off, the fire was started and an Oakland man, Nels Larsen, took the post inside the balloon while the constant use of kerosene on the flames soon developed an expanse of cotton cloth that cracked and surged in the gale.

Larger and larger grew the balloon; higher and higher it rose, until it was nearly ready to attach the aeroplane. It was held by hundreds of men who were dragged around in spite of their combined efforts. Minor injuries were sustained by the balloon and quickly repaired, when finally a gust of wind, more violent than its predecessors, made a huge rent and in a moment a cloud of sooty rags, a huge cloud of inky smoke and an excited crowd that surged over the wreck was all that remained.

By the furnace a form was found, apparently lifeless, the man inside the balloon had been overcome by the poisonous gases, the product of combustion.

It Was a Pitiful Sight.

It was a pitiful sight, for the inky blackness of the soot could not hide the deathly pallor, nor obscure the foam at the mouth. Professor Montgomery left his property to care for his workman and stayed by him until with a doctor's assistance he recovered.

A grand rush was made for the cars, and even the policemen went to supper, leaving the valuable aeroplanes to such fate as the crowd might choose to send. It was, however, an admirably well behaved mass of humanity, and whatever damage was done resulted from boyish impetuosity.

The customary vandalism resulting from the anger of a disappointed crowd was wholly lacking, while sympathy for the unfortunate found general expression.

The inventor now offers the Oakland public a free exhibition of his flying machine at an early date.

JOHN H. PIERCE.

SAILS FOR PORT IN ALGERIA

GIBRALTAR, July 18.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Dixie, having on board the instruments and materials for the observation station to be erected in Bona, Algeria, for the use of the American astronomers, who are to observe the eclipse of the sun at Bona, August 29, sailed for that port today.

BULK OF ESTATE LEFT TO HUSBAND

The will of the late Margaret M. Chedd was filed for probate with the County Clerk today by Joseph Chedd, her husband, who asks the court to appoint him the executor. By the will the deceased gave each of her six children $5,000, and to her friend Mollie Royce, who took care of her in her last illness, $10,000, and the remainder of her estate, consisting of a piece of property valued at $300,000, situated on thirty-fourth street between San Pablo avenue and Market street, and $500 in bank to her husband, Joseph Chedd.

HOT WAVE IN EAST CAUSES DEATH AND SUFFERING.

Spell Is Cast Over Atlantic Sea- Board—Demand for Ice Exceeds Supply.

CHICAGO, July 18, 7 a. m.—Temperatures: New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis, 80; Boston, Washington, 82; Philadelphia, 86; Chicago, 78; Minneapolis, 76.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The heat in this city became more intense today. The mercury rose several degrees higher than it did yesterday, which was the hottest day of the year. The death list was more than doubled, even in the morning and prostrations were continuous. An hour before noon the Weather Bureau had recorded a temperature of 91, five degrees hotter than at the same hour yesterday. Five deaths had occurred up to that time.

The coolest hour since the record heat of yesterday was at 7 o'clock this morning when the Government thermometer registered 77. Even that temperature caused as much suffering as the later and higher temperatures, because early in the morning the humidity was excessive. It dropped rapidly as the mercury rose from 72 to 87.

CANNOT SUPPLY ICE.

CHICAGO, July 18.—No relief from the hot wave was experienced today, the temperature just equalling the high figures of yesterday, the humidity being slightly increased. Railroads are unable to get ice into Chicago fast enough to supply delivery companies. As a result suffering has been much increased, especially in the congested districts.

BOSTON, July 18.—The heat which acquired new energy late yesterday continued today with promise of nearing the record mark for the summer. During the night the mercury did not go below 70 and it began to rise with the dawn. By 10 o'clock it stood at 88. The temperature in various parts of the city, however, was above 90 at the same hour. The humidity today was below the normal and there was a light breeze.

PEOPLE SUFFER.

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—Today's hot wave promised to be a record-breaker for this summer. At 3 o'clock this morning the Government thermometer registered 85 degrees, nine higher than at the same hour yesterday.

The suffering among the poorer people is intense. Last night hundreds of persons slept on the roof of their homes. There is little hope of an immediate break in the hot spell.

COVERS SEABOARD.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The crest of the warm wave is now covering the Atlantic seaboard. The indications are that fair weather with some lower temperatures will prevail in the West and Northwest and that scattered showers and slightly lower temperatures will be experienced in the western lake region Wednesday.

EXTREME WARMTH.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 18.—Extreme hot weather continues. In this city during the past twelve hours there were four prostrations and one death from the heat. At 11 o'clock the mercury had reached 85 and the local weather bureau forecasts a maximum for the day of perhaps 89 degrees.

ONE PERSON DIES.

BALTIMORE, July 18.—Today is the warmest of the present summer so far, the thermometer having reached 82 degrees at 10 a. m. with the humidity at 81. There has been one death from the heat in this city and a few prostrations.

WOMAN DIES.

LINCOLN, Nebraska, July 18.—Mrs. J. B. Pickard died today as a result of the heat. She was at the railway station ready to start for a summer resort.

RECORDS BROKEN.

MADISON, Wisconsin, July 18.—All records for continuous heat have been broken here. During the past three days the mercury has risen above 96 daily.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—At one o'clock today the thermometer registered 83 with indications that the maximum would be 93 about 4 o'clock.

RUSSIANS FOILED

Explosives Applied to the Warships Do Not Work.

TOKIO, July 18, 4:30 p. m.—An officer who has returned from Port Arthur reports that the extent of damage to the sunken Russian ships was slighter than was anticipated.

It has been known that the Russians had applied explosives inside the vessels before they were abandoned and the resulting damage was expected to be serious. It has been found, however, that the vital portions of the ships were strangely unharmed.

The Russian, which sustained the most severe damage, has been taken in tow, and the Paraviet is navigable with her own engines.

Both of these vessels will soon be brought here to complete the necessary repairs.

Even the Pallada, which sustained the heaviest damage, is expected to be repaired by the middle of August and before this the Retvizan and Pobedla will be aloft.

TWO WRECKS AT ROCHESTER

RAILROAD MEN ARE KILLED IN THE WRECK.

AGE.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 18.—By the wreck of a freight car in the East Rochester yards of the New York Central today, Engineer James Clark of Depew, was fatally injured, and died in the hospital a short time later. Fireman M. Flossey of Buffalo was scalded, and George White, a negro passenger of Chicago, was slightly bruised and cut.

The Chicago and Detroit special, due here from the West at 4 a. m., crashed into the freight at the Culvert street crossing, and Engineer Clark and Fireman Flossey were caught in the wreckage. None of the other passengers except White were injured. The railroad officials blame Engineer Clark, who, they say, ran past a block signal.

WARM WEATHER IN MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Mich., July 18.—Detroit and Lower Michigan are suffering again today. At 10 o'clock the weather bureau reported 87 degrees. A breeze somewhat tempered the heat today. One prostration was reported.

MINING BULLETIN

Tells of Gold Dredging in This State--New District.

SACRAMENTO, July 18.—The California State Mining Bureau has issued a bulletin on the subject of gold dredging in the State, giving in full detail a history of this modern and important industry.

The bulletin, which is profusely illustrated, shows that the output of gold for the year 1903 from this source alone was $1,415,119.

Of this amount, $1,329,998 was extracted in Butte county, where some twenty-five dredgers were in operation. Three dredgers were working near Polson, one in Siskiyou county, one in Trinity county and one in Yuba county.

In 1905, there are twenty-eight dredgers in the Oroville district, five at Polson, one in Calaveras, two in Trinity, one in Siskiyou, two in Yuba, a total of 40 dredgers.

NEW DISTRICT.

BAKERSFIELD, July 18.—For the first time since 1897, when, by an act of the Legislature mining districts were abolished, Kern county is to have an organized mining district, that of Amale. This district was first organized in 1895 and did not take advantage of the new laws when the Legislature of 1899 repealed the act of 1897. Since that time all locations of Amale, as well as other districts in the county have been filed with the County Recorder.

The old district included the larger part of six townships and the reorganization is considered among mining men as being of great importance, as it indicates the coming reorganization of the Kern county mining country.

STOCK GOES TO THE TRUSTEES

NEW YORK, July 18.—The majority stock carrying the controlling interest in the Equitable Life Assurance Society, which was acquired by Thomas F. Ryan by purchase from James F. Hyde, has been formally transferred to the Board of Trustees, which is headed by Former President Cleveland. This announcement was made today by George F. Parker, Secretary of the Equitable Trustees.

WIFE ALLEGES NON-SUPPORT

Suit for divorce was begun today by Rose Lewis against William Lewis, whom she charges with having failed and neglected to properly provide for her. They were married in this city in 1901, and she began to neglect her husband after he began to neglect her and finally refused to support her at all and she has had to go and earn her living at a factory.

YACHT ARRIVES.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The schooner yacht Thistle, which competed in the trans-Atlantic race for the Empress of the Sea Cup several weeks ago, arrived at New York today.

SHIELDS WOMEN TRAINS IN COLLISION

Tries to Keep Secret One Man Killed and Those Who Had a Stolen Ride.

BERKELEY, July 18.—In an effort to shield as long as possible the names of his two companions of the ride, Morris White, who is being sued by G. A. McPherson for $250 as the result of an auto spin, today made a demurrer in Judge Edgar's court stating there were not facts sufficient to make a cause of action in the complaint filed by McPherson.

This move is recognized as one in a series calculated to delay and as long as possible keep from the knowledge of the public the two young ladies' names who accompanied White on his eventful and disastrous ride.

In the event the case comes to trial they will be called upon to testify, and this is just what is not wanted. White, in McPherson's machine, took the two girls on a drive through Berkeley. Before they returned home the machine had been ditched and damages to the extent of some $50 done. The chauffeur was merely taking care of the car and did not have permission to use it. The incident deprived McPherson of the use of his machine for two days, and he asks in his suit for rental $100 per day and the $50 for damages.

STEAL BED-LINEN BY WAGON-LOAD.

BERKELEY, July 18.—The theft of bed clothing, in such quantities as to have no parallel in the annals of local crime, has been reported to the Marshall's office, and a determined effort is being made to apprehend a gang operating in the college town among the residents of the wealthy who are enjoying sojourns in the country and have left their homes locked for the summer.

Bedding, dining-room linen and other household ware have been taken by the bulk of the booty taken by the thieves from several of Berkeley's most handsome homes.

Marshall Volmer was informed of the depredations and immediately put Deputy Jamison on the case. Among the victims is W. F. Smith of 2163 Dwight way and ex-Judge John Youngs of 2118 Bancroft way. Both of these gentlemen's families were away and the articles stolen were chiefly bed clothing and articles which are, by the ordinary thief, spared.

KNOW NOTHING OF EXPLOSION

VICTORIA, B. C., July 18.—The steamer Tricolor, which rescued the United States lightship No. 67 off Cape Flattery yesterday, arrived here today. The correspondent of the Associated Press, who boarded the steamer on her arrival, was unable to obtain any information regarding the explosion. The crew of the Tricolor said they knew none of the particulars of the accident.

TRAINS RUN ON SCHEDULE TIME

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18.—The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company arranged today to use the train sheds in the rear of the Union Station, which latter structure was burned last night, but trains were sent out on schedule time. Neither the Pennsylvania nor the Monon roads, which also use the Union Station, suffered any delay. The loss is about $300,000. Only one person was injured. The depot will be rebuilt at once.

KILLED HIM TO ESCAPE SLAVERY

NEW YORK, July 18.—Berthe Claiche, the French girl indicted for murder in the first degree yesterday by the Grand Jury for killing Emil Gendron, pleaded not guilty today and was remanded for trial. The girl says that for six years past Gendron had her lead an immoral life, and that she killed him to escape this slavery. Sympathetic women have retained legal counsel for her during her trial, which will probably be at the fall term.

KILLED BY TRAIN

West Berkeley Flyer Run Over Unknown White Man.

An unknown white man about 35 years of age was struck by the West Berkeley flyer last night and instantly killed. Portions of the remains were scattered along the track for a distance of several blocks. The remains are hardly recognizable as those of a human being.

The accident occurred about 10:00 o'clock last night near the Paradise Road intersection.

There was nothing in the pockets of the deceased which would give a clue as to his identity. He was about 45 years of age and had the appearance of a workingman.

It is probable that the man became confused by the passing of two trains and stepped in front of the West Berkeley local.

Coroner Mehrmann will hold an inquest.

WILL SUCCEED HEARST IN CONGRESS

NEW YORK, July 18.—Charles J. Fornes will not be a candidate to succeed himself as president of the Board of Aldermen on the Tammany ticket next fall. He has decided to retire at the end of this term, and Charles Murphy has arranged to send him to Congress next year from the Eleventh district, now represented by William H. Hearst.

Fornes had intended to stand for reelection until his return from Europe several weeks ago, when he learned that the terms of the Mayor, the Controller and the President of the Board of Aldermen had been lengthened from two to four years by the Legislature. After talking over the situation with Murphy it was agreed that his duties as a representative in Congress would be more congenial and he decided upon this change.

WHALES ARE SEEN FROM CLIFF HOUSE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Three whales, two large and one small, were seen from the Cliff House veranda yesterday, enjoying themselves in the breakers. The presence of the visitors to the warm waters of the ocean against Golden Gate Park was not, seemingly welcomed by the seals, who took to cover on the lee side of the seal rocks while the whales were gambling about beyond.

Persons who professed to know a whole lot about the whale family asserted that the visitors were father, mother and youngster, and that it is possible that the youngster is a native son or daughter of California waters.

ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED CRUELTY

Maurice Epstein was arrested last night by O. E. Brown of Berkeley on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was driving. Epstein was turned over to Police Sergeant Henderson who took him to the City Hall, where a charge of cruelty to animals was placed against him. The defendant deposited $25 bail for his appearance in the police court this morning. The case was continued at the request of the defendant this morning by Police Judge Samuels.

CREW WILL BE HELD AT ISLAND

NEW YORK, July 18.—The British steamer Indrami, detained at quarantine yesterday for examination of symptoms of bubonic plague among the crew was allowed to proceed to her dock today under her own crew and a new crew. The regular crew, comprising 48 Chinamen and 10 Europeans, was taken to Hoffman Island for observation. The Indrami came from Chinese and Japanese ports.

MAY BURN FOR MONTHS.
NEW YORK, July 18.—Fire smouldering and blazing over the foreshore dumping grounds of the Department of Street Cleaning on Riker's Island before it attracted notice, but soon became so serious that dumping of refuse had to be temporarily suspended. It is not believed the fire can be entirely extinguished for several months.

Fire boats from the city have been unable to get close to the scene, a only employees of the Street Cleaning Department are at work on the island. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have started the fire which, owing to the locality, can do no particular damage.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—The Best in Existence

M. W. Wood, manager of the Wisconsin County Fair, has the reputation of a representative Southern business man, who does not hesitate in expressing his good opinion of a well-known remedy. BRETTON WOODS, N. H., J. 1.
—The automobile races up
 Washington were resumed today, though in some respects the conditions were scarcely the same as a year ago. The first race today was driven by William E. of Boston. The ascent was made in 20 minutes and 28 seconds, the time that in 1904 H. Stanley of Newton, Mass., made in a 15 horse-power steam car. The ascent in 27 minutes 15 2-5 seconds was made by a car that was more than a minute faster than the mark last year. Webb Jay, of land, Ohio, went in thirty minutes, one second, in a ten horse-power steam car. The road

MRS. DANIELS IS ROBBED
AT REST
AT THE STATION

Dr. Jacobs Says Pocket Was Picked at Mole.

SACRAMENTO, July 18.—Dr. Jacoba, United States Inspector of Livestock, of Reno, Nevada, has reported to the railroad officials in this city that he was robbed of his pass-book and $50 in greenbacks at the Oakland Mole last night as he was boarding a train for his home.

DETECTIVES FIND AND CLEW

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Detectives have failed to find a single clew to the identity of the thugs who brutally assaulted and attempted to rob aged Mrs. Ellen Irwin in front of her home near Harbor View last night. The injured woman is still unconscious from the effects of the vicious blows she received over the head, and the attending surgeons do not believe that she will recover.

Mrs. Brown is 60 years of age, and lives alone on her small chicken ranch near Hesperia. Last night, she went to the nearby grocery to make some purchases, and was struck down while on her homeward journey. She cried out for help when the thugs attacked her, and they fled without securing any money. After the ruffians disappeared, their aged victim crawled on her hands and knees to Duffy's saloon, a half-block away, and there, after telling history to the saloon-man, lost consciousness. An ambulance was summoned, and she was removed to the hospital, where it was found that she had sustained fracture of the skull.

Mr. Ellen Irwin has lived alone for years on her chicken ranch, and it was rumored that she kept quite a snug supply of money in her little cabin. It is believed by the police that her assassins were familiar with this rumor and intended to kill her and secure the gold.

Detective Sergeant Reynolds, who is acting captain of detectives in the absence of Captain Burnett, has assigned Detectives Matheson and Mulcahey to the case, and they are making every effort to locate the assassin.

MERCURY RISES.
NEW YORK, July 18.—The mercury continued to rise rapidly, reaching 95 degrees at 2 o'clock. Fourteen deaths more than two score of serious prostrations have been reported. The humidity dropped to 26 when the thermometer registered 95.

JUMP IN MERCURY.
BOSTON, July 18.—Between 11 and 12 o'clock there was a sudden jump from 29 of the mercury to 33. This was followed by a fall of one degree shortly afterward. Reports received here indicated that the southern part of New England was in the midst of the hot wave.

REPLIES TO THE VAUDEVILLE AT CLUBMAN DEWEY

BY JOHN H. PIERCE.

JOHN H. PIERCE HAS NO RESPECT FOR STAND TAKEN BY WRITER.

BY JOHN H. PIERCE.

Remove from office all men elected or influenced by labor, then the problem will be solved.

Put the upper class higher and the lower class down.

Toters must be made to reverence their betters.

THE TRIBUNE writers are nauseous "The Knave especially."

Up with capital and down with the common herd.

Union enthusiasts should have quick suppression by armed negroes.

The working men are "offending knaves" confine them to their proper sphere.

The elure class must have special privileges, monopolies, syndicate insurance that insures millions to the few, oil and mineral clutches adulterations for profit, coolie and other forms of slavery stock and all other ways of gambling in sure things government schemes in a thousand form. Ask any of the men with large inherited wealth or accumulated wealth and they will emphasize these demands. The man who does not work will not work, the man who does not work will not work.

The declaration of independence has been edited, and our so-called national holiday orators are socialists, anarchists and generally unworthy.

Their platitudes and catch-phrase phrases about our forefathers and their virtues are the subjects of our scorn.

We must have a privileged class in the United States. King Edward of England has a healthy view of the world. Why not go back to the Union Jack? That is what we are accumulating wealth for its it not?

How long are we to submit to this perpetual declaration of hirelings' rights?

TWO—C To hades with carpenters, engineers and bricklayers.

Clubmen the men of birth, the men of wealth, they must have the power the men of the future, the men of the future, they must have the power.

They want and that will indeed be a beautiful state of things.

Fiddlers, canal boat drivers, rail splitters and surveyors have had their day and their way and now comes the wealthy and the poor.

The right idea is the strike breaker breaking heads clubbing the workingmen into insensibility and death.

We must suppress the workingmen Jones Smith and Brown must stand aside. Rockefeller and Hyde and all the men of millions shall reign.

This is the view. No more consideration for the rights of the employee. "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none"—the merest tyro knows this sentiment is dead.

The absurdity of making men like ME wait their turn when calling on a new Mayor.

Is a scavenger to go ahead of ME? These things have humiliated us long enough.

Murrah for money and let royalty come with it! Otherwise of what use is my high-born position in society and finance?

In California, notwithstanding frantic efforts birth and wealth dominate labor. Dangerous beyond conceiving are those opposed to us hence we must have class government, the high class and policemen's clubs to silence the workingmen.

My "unwarranted presumption" excludes me from your columns, but I am bold I press the limit.

Your TRIBUNE is good-natured and a lover of fair play, but we will make your unthinking press open wider to us in the future.

Upper class government shall be ours soon.

This is not "A Clubman's" article as it appeared on page 12 of the TRIBUNE of July 8 because its masking verbosity has been left out and yet the lines are largely copied therefrom.

That letter properly distributed might be as valuable to the cause of freedom and progress as the great Declaration at which it sneers for it discloses the treasonable tendency which is usually concealed with the greatest care by "aggregated capitalist" press and thousands of destroy our liberties and snatch from the Republic the shield of sovereignty.

"Forewarned is forearmed."

THE TRIBUNE is deserving of great credit for its conspicuous publication of this startling letter and the equally pronounced greeting to those who answered its deplorable lines.

Anarchists' plans cause thinking men to shudder, but here is something worse than anarchy for the crazy creeds of the suffering slaves of tyrants is not backed by entrenched position, boundless wealth, measureless greed and abundant brains.

Such writings were common in the 60's and 80's when "This Earth's old slave god fighting for his crown."

And Freedom battling with her vizier "The Devil."

But since then I have read nothing dis playing treason and a willingness to fight for it, or rather to hide others for the purpose while the writer crouches behind a nom de plume.

Strikes Injure Organized Labor

Strikes appear to be weakening the labor unions if the statistical information furnished by the labor bureaux of New York and Massachusetts is correct. In the former State the unions seem to have lost ground rapidly by reason of the turmoil occasioned by frequent strikes, though the exposure of the grafting methods of Sam Parks and others of his stripe may have had something to do with it.

In the six months from October 1904 to April 1, 1905, according to the Commissioner of Labor, 165 labor organizations in New York disbanded. Subtracting the gain by the formation of new unions, the net loss was 86 unions. At the end of March there were left 2,418 organizations with a membership of 374,262, showing a net decrease in the previous six months of 17,414 members. The unions now embrace about 5 per cent of the gross population and about 22 per cent of the voters.

In Massachusetts organized labor makes a better showing on paper, but there it has been materially weakened by unsuccessful strikes. The State Labor Bulletin for June gives a semi-annual record of the strikes and lock-outs for the half year ending May 1st, 1905. The total number was 65, of which 14 were successful, while 27 failed, one is pending and of seven the results are not stated. Sixteen were compromised. In sixteen cases of failure the men were reinstated; in eleven their places were filled. This is doubtless a better showing than has been made in most of the other States, but the successful strikes were but one more than one-fifth of the whole. Of the causes of these strikes thirty-one, or less than half, were for higher wages, twelve on account of increased number of looms, three for shorter hours, seven overworking conditions, two against non-union workmen, and ten for other causes. These strikes affected some 5,600 employees, of whom 2,545 were in the textile industries, 1,700 were granite cutters and 582 in the building trades.

If we come nearer home we find the same story to relate. In Chicago the loss of the packing-house strike and the more recent fiasco of the teamsters' strike have diminished both the prestige and power of the unions. There are fewer union men in the city, and in many establishments non-union labor has partially or wholly superseded union labor. In San Francisco the unions do not appear to be as strong as they were eighteen months ago, though organized labor has been rather conservative of late in the Pacific metropolis. Whatever the cause, unionism is not as strong throughout the country as it was two years ago, and the fact should admonish the leaders of organized labor against making some of the mistakes which have harassed industry and fretted the public of late.

The optimistic predictions so confidently indulged in at the close of the Spanish war that Cuba would be Americanized are now disclosed to have been rashly uttered. Cuba is not being Americanized and probably never will be. English will never supersede Spanish in the island, and the people will remain as heretofore, Spanish in blood, custom and tradition. It is true the American spirit of enterprise has been infused into the Cubans to a considerable extent, but few Americans are settling in the island and the ways of the people are still essentially Spanish. There has been considerable immigration into Cuba during the past four years, but nine tenths of the immigrants come from Spain, and the trade between Spain and Cuba is steadily growing. Furthermore, the natural feeling of blood kinship, language and race sympathy is reasserting itself in a marked degree. After all the Cubans cannot forget they are Spaniards. They cannot be anything else.

The Indianapolis News, which is chiefly owned by Vice-President Fairbanks, is rather severe on Senator Depew. It remarks brusquely: "The truth about Depew, of course, is that he has always been a sham. But now it seems that he is also something of a grafter. Certainly he should get off, or be put off, the Yale corporation." Such plain speaking is likely to disturb the accord of the Senate. But perhaps the Vice-President doesn't think Depew counts for much anyhow.

Carrie Nation's method of using a hatchet as an argument for temperance reform is milder and in some respects preferable to dynamite. It must be admitted, however, that dynamite does give the rum power a shaking up.

The Governor of Washington tartly refuses to honor a requisition issued by the Governor of Minnesota on the ground that the Minnesota executive refused to honor a requisition issued by the Governor of Washington. Apparently these two petulant officials regard justice as a matter of official etiquette. Perhaps their point of view would be altered and the cause of justice subserved if both were relegated to private life.

The best way to get rid of weeds growing on vacant lots is to build houses on the said lots. That is what Oakland is doing. A good many sidewalks are in need of attention from the city officials, however.

Thomas W. Lawson's boast that he will soon put the Standard Oil Company in the hands of a receiver should not induce anyone to short the stock. Nobody knows which side the market Lawson is on.

The Colusa Sun declares that a change of venue is needed for powder explosions. It is a wise suggestion, except in one particular: Powder explosions persist in occurring where the powder works are located.

At least Alton B. Parker's Fourth of July letter to Tammany Hall has recalled to the public mind the identity of the last Democratic candidate for President.

M. Witte's Cold Bluff

Russian diplomacy is responsible for many queer things, but the interview given out to the American press on the eve of his departure from St. Petersburg to arrange terms of peace with the Japanese envoys is perhaps the most extraordinary diplomatic move ever deliberately made. What M. Witte hopes to gain by this remarkable outgiving is difficult to perceive. In some respects it reads like a bluff; in others, it appears to be an attempt to swing public opinion in the United States under the impression that popular pressure in this country will force Japan to offer favorable terms to Russia. Possibly M. Witte is trying to square himself in advance with the Russian people while making a pretense of addressing Americans.

M. Witte's interview is not calculated to promote peace or to cause the Japanese to moderate their demands. In advance of the opening of actual negotiations he announces that he has little hope of peace being concluded, fearing the Japanese will make excessive demands. He follows this up with the statement that he is not a peace envoy at all, but has been appointed by the Czar to conduct a pour parlers—what the Chinese designate as a chin-chin—with the Japanese to ascertain if terms of peace cannot be agreed upon. All the world knows the emptiness of this declaration, for Japan absolutely refused to enter into negotiations unless the Czar would fully empower his envoys to conclude the terms of peace.

But the real meat of M. Witte's interview comes after his gloomy predictions about the failure of peace negotiations, and his cool brushing aside of the object of his coming to Washington. It is like the roast which follows the fish and the entrees, but apparently it is for Japanese consumption solely. M. Witte wants it understood that Russia is still powerful and able to continue the war indefinitely. The little family quarrels inside the empire, he gravely assures us, are embarrassing in a way to be sure, but do not imply that the Russian people are disloyal or prepared to accept peace at any price. "Western nations," he says, "do not understand the Russians," whom he characterizes as a great family. "Russia is not crushed as the foreign press has led the world to believe," he declares. Then he makes this vaunt: "We are passing through an internal crisis, which has been marked by many grave events, and which may have others still in store; but the crisis will pass, and in a few years Russia will again take her place as a preponderant power in the European court."

It is charitable to assume that M. Witte does not mean what he says. He is putting a bold face on a bad situation. He is commissioned to make peace under disheartening circumstances with a victorious enemy. Russia is seething internally with covert sedition or open rebellion; the beaten and dispirited army in the field is permeated with disaffection and discontent; the shattered and nerveless navy is honeycombed with mutiny and corruption; the war chest is empty, the treasury exhausted and the credit of the empire reduced to a low ebb. Industry is depressed, and in many cases completely paralyzed, by strikes and interminable troubles due to misgovernment and oppression. Only the presence of large bodies of troops prevents open insurrection in various provinces of the empire.

It is on this situation that M. Witte puts a defiant front—through the newspapers. Japan will hardly abate her terms for this declaration, which is simply an attempt to play a weak hand for a strong one.

Nursing up a grudge:
Four and twenty Managers
Hailed before a Judge.
When the Court was open
Didn't one appear—
Don't you think the Managers
Were acting rather queer?

Sing a song of Magistrates,
Meaning Mr. Pool.
In an empty courtroom—
No one came to school.
"Give 'em till tomorrow—
Have 'em her in line
Clean from Daniel Frohman
Down to Hammerstein!"

Sing a song of lawsuits.
Justice here to burn.
Four and twenty Managers
Waiting for their turn.
At the great Box Office
No one dares to budge;
Perched behind the window
Sits the frowning Judge.

Sing a song of Theaters,
Met at the door:
Four and twenty Managers—
Count them! 24!!!
Never seen on any stage
Such a thrilling sport—
Quite an all-star Comedy
To play before a Court!

INFORMAL REFRESHMENTS.

A dweller in the tropics says: "For a delicious early morning drink I recommend you to try the milk from the green coconuts. Cut off the top of the nut with a sharp knife, pour the contents into a glass and you have a drink fit for a king. The coconut must be cold. When in Singapore I was a bit seedy and consulted a doctor. Part of his prescription was coconut milk first thing in the morning. I took to it most kindly and often wish now that I had a chance of repeating that portion of the cure. Where the cabbage palm grows one has a good vegetable at hand—the heart of the head of the tree. In removing this the palm is killed. This growth is not bad eating, as I found when out hunting once. We fed on the palm and wild honey."

Sir Lauder Brunton, who has given much attention to the feeding of the children of London's poor, writes: "In the out-patient department of St. Bartholomew's Hospital I found, as the result of many inquiries, that an ordinary rule of feeding was, 'Mother a bit and a sup, and baby a bit and a sup,' although the bit sometimes consisted of a red herring and the sup of gin and water." As Sir Lauder adds, the results of such feeding could not be better described than in the words of a poor woman: "I have had thirteen children and have buried them all except this one. I cannot understand how it came about, for I never denied them anything they cried for."

A treat in an Australian wilderness camp is thus described by an explorer: "On our way down the coast it was necessary to stop at McLeod's camp to get something to clear the bronchial tubes. There was one great Scotchman among the party, who said, when I asked him what his poison was, 'Well, I'll just take a tin of fruit.' He had a tin of pineapple. Now the price of preserved fruit at that time and in such a place was something to make you sit up, so that Scotchman scored."

A GREAT COMPOSER'S INSPIRATION.

At last Wagner was possessed by "was furchbare Schick," which was essential to the composition of Act II, and III, of "Tristan." On Nov. 1 he even had thoughts of suicide. He wrote the music with the gold pen presented to him by Mathilde. The third act was written with as great passion as the second. Wagner in his unenviable hotel at Lucerne became Tristan tossing on his couch at Kareol. Then we find him weeping while he composes Kurwenal's words. "Auf eigner Weid' und Wonne," etc. On May 9, however, he had been sticking for a week over the passage preceding "Sterbend lag ich stumm im Kahn," but the provident Mathilde sent him a package of blueberries. He dipped the "sweet, familiar rusk" in milk and consumed them, and the gates of inspiration were opened again. "God, what the proper rusk can do!" he exclaims. Thus, "Tristan" was composed.—Wagner's Letters to Mathilde Wesendonck.

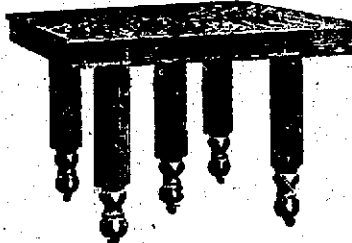

A Grim Tragedy is daily enacted in thousands of homes, as death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated the tragedy is averted. F. G. Hunter, of Oakland, Cal., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. COLORS BIRDS DON'T LIKE.

Red will annoy a turkey-cock as much as a bull, but a sparrow will not let it disturb its mind. But if one shakes a blue rag in front of a caged sparrow's eyes he will go frantic with disgust. Scientists and hunters, too, will refuse food offered them on a piece of blue paper and dislike the appearance of any one wearing a blue dress. Medium light blue affects them most, but blue serge they scarcely mind at all. Thrushes and blackbirds object to yellow, but will use red and blue dried grass left about their haunts to build the outer layers of their nests. Yellow grasses they will not use.—Chicago Journal.

WHY ONE MAN WAS MARRIED TO SIX WOMEN

HOW MANY MEN SHOULD A WOMAN LOVE?

CONCERNING WOMEN AND THE HOUSEHOLD

MARRIED SIX WOMEN TO GET THEIR MONEY

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., July 18.—Word has been received here of the arrest of Clinton Brugler, who is wanted by the authorities of several New Jersey towns on charges of forgery, bigamy, obtaining money under false pretenses and larceny. He was arrested at Fort Wayne, Ind., and sentenced to the Reformatory at Jeffersonville for a term of fourteen years.

This arrest brings to a close the matrimonial career of a man known throughout the United States under the aliases of Milton C. Young, Clinton De Wit, Charles Good, Robert C. Brooks, Frank Renick and Clinton Wallace. Although only twenty-seven years old, he is known to have married six women and many others are believed to have been his victims. With the idea of enjoying a continuous honeymoon at the expense of women, Brugler made an early start on the matrimonial sea.

Miss Flory Trexler, of 1715 Dolphin street, Philadelphia, became the first wife of Brugler. Two years ago she sued him for support, and he was ordered to pay her $4 per week. This union was dissolved by divorce granted to the wife four weeks ago.

At Burlington Brugler was known as Milton C. Young. Over the telephone he became acquainted with the "hello" of Miss Marjorie Parker, a pretty young operator. Within three days they were married, and ten days later the girl was cast to the winds, Brugler taking her money and gold watch. Before leaving Burlington he obtained $50 from Postmaster N. W. C. Hays on a forged check.

During his brief courtship with Miss Parker, Brugler gave her an engagement ring on which he made a partial payment, leaving a lady's gold watch as security for the balance. This timepiece belongs to one of Young's wives, whose identity has not been disclosed. It is a Waltham watch, with the initials "M. F. P." engraved on the case.

In Camden Brugler tried to lure a young lady whose father is a contractor, living on York street, but he failed. At that time he forged the name of Joseph Boardman, of Camden, to a check for $15, which was cashed by Chris F. Long. This check was taken up by William Brugler, father of the forger, who lives near Morristown, Pa.

Immediately after this transaction Brugler forged some checks in Philadelphia, and was arrested there for impersonating an officer on the old York road. For this offense he was given three months in prison.

At Mount Joy, Pa., he stopped at the Red Lion Hotel with a Miss Madeline M. Parsons of Allegheny City, Pa., whom he married after a curious courtship. From Mount Joy the couple went to Hagerstown, Md., and then came back to Harrisburg, where he forged some more paper to replenish his empty purse.

Brugler passed a bogus check on a Philadelphia clothing firm. He went West, and under the name of Frank Renick, is accused of obtaining money under false pretenses at Fort Huron, Mich. He left several bad checks at Detroit, and stole a gold watch from a young woman at Roxborough.

When arrested at Fort Wayne, where he had passed forged checks, under the name of John Rusley, Brugler had shaved his head in order to give him the appearance of a bald-headed man and so throw the detectives off the track. He pleaded guilty when confronted with the evidence against him, and was given an indeterminate sentence of from two to fourteen years.

Brugler's parents formerly lived at Mount Holly, where he made an unsuccessful attempt to marry.

SOCIETY'S REALM

MISS BLANCHE LAYMAN, WHO LEAVES SHORTLY FOR KENWOOD, THE COUNTRY HOME OF THE JOHN BRITTONS.

Woman's Story of Her Love

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Rev. "As long as I have known him he never struck me or ill-treated me, or even said an unkind word to me, though I deserved it many times."

"There is one day in my life I would like to recall, and that is the day I quarreled with Beverly. I thought I was doing it for his own good. I knew that if he married me he would lose his position and have trouble with his mother, and I thought it was better that he should leave me. Oh, how sorry I am now that that quarrel took place! I know now that I ought to have married him."

"You know, we came very near getting married some time ago. He had persuaded me and everything was ready, even my wedding dress. We were to go out of town and be married quietly. He gave me this ring; it was to be our wedding ring." Mrs. Pennington held up a finger with a plain gold band upon it. "It has our names engraved on the inside. At the last moment I refused to marry him. I asked him: 'Beverly, if we get married, do you think it will be found out?' He said that if it was he would lose his position in the bank and have a quarrel with his mother, but that he was willing to risk those things. Then I was frightened and refused to let the marriage take place."

San Francisco, July 18.—Beverly Lechter died last evening at the Waldeck Sanitarium as the result of a dose of opium administered by himself because his sweetheart, Marion Pennington, refused to marry him. And he died without being united in marriage to the woman for whom he took the fatal draught.

It was the wish of Miss Pennington that she be made the wife of the dying man, but this was refused her. Here is her own story of her life with the bank official and club man:

"This trouble has made a woman of me. I have learned my lesson and I will never forget it. I know now how little we can carry away with us. Nothing is worth living for except happiness."

"I was awfully selfish and cruel to Beverly. I treated him shamefully, just as a woman will treat a man when she can. He kept his butterflies and bees here, and would spend hours at a time classifying them. Once when I was angry with him I took all he had and threw them out of the window into the street. He didn't say a word to me. Another time I put my foot through a card of them; they were all valuable specimens and I ruined them, but he never murmured."

MAN, WOMAN AND LOVE

Can a woman love more than one man? And if so, how many and how much?

Engaged young women, and those with hopes, are herewith distinctly barred from this discussion. For, of course, we know that they know a woman can only love one man forever and ever.

But considered in the light of cold reason, how many?

I should say one and a half. That is, she may love one man wholly, helplessly, and yet be half in love with another.

There is a venerable proverb concerning putting all one's holdings in eggs in one basket; there is a prejudice among the prudent against putting all one's money on one horse, and there is likewise among the more sophisticated of the sex called by courtesy fair a distinct disinclination to center all their affections on one man.

Much as we may want to feel that the cherished idol of our souls is the only man we have ever loved, or will love, the instinct of self-preservation prevents us.

There were deceivers ever, and ever will be. Therefore it behooves the wise virgin who has been foolish enough to fall in love with one man to guard against his possible defection by keeping another in cold storage to fill the possible void.

There is no doubt that all her instincts will be against this, for woman, even with the example of her instant mate before her, is as yet imperfectly polyandrous.

Of course, seriously speaking, it is only possible to love one person, be it man or woman, accepting love in its real meaning and separating it from infatuation, with which we not infrequently confound it.

Love is respectful of its object and self-respecting, and infatuation is neither. Infatuation may become love, and love may degenerate to infatuation.

Men tell us that it is possible to love one woman and be infatuated with another. But they always add, comfortably:

"Of course, you don't understand that because you're a woman."

It would make them supremely uncomfortable if you intimated that you did understand it.

A woman starts with the idea that one man can be all things to her; it is not her fault if she loses it, but his.

How few women who love at all marry the man that they most love? How many of us marry at last the good, long-suffering other man whom our own love teaches us to pity and whose heart we accept at last as a refuge from the storm and tears of our great passion.

It is taking him into account that I say we can love one man and a half, the first with ecstasy, the second with resignation.

How many women can a man love, as he understands the word?

How many stars are there in the milky way; how many seeds in the cantaloupe? When you have found this number, look up the binomial formula in your discarded algebra and get to work.

PROFESSOR GIVES HIS "MATRIMONIAL PARTY"

CHICAGO, July 18.—The much-heralded "matrimonial party" which was to have been given by Professor Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago in his bachelor apartments last evening, got a black eye when President Harper put his veto on the particular kind of entertainment announced by the members of the professor's class. The notoriety gained by the teacher of anthropology through his official call for a matrimonial party, is said to have shocked Harper and other officials of the university.

Professor Starr has been very angry ever since the newspapers mentioned the proposed affair from day to day, not always in a complimentary way. What was worse, the Chicago papers even poked fun at the Professor. However, a modified form of matrimonial party was held late last evening, attended by a limited number of students, but none was subjected to any anthropological examination to determine his fitness to marry any particular person.

HUSBAND A PRIEST, THE WIFE A NUN

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—Priesthood for the husband, the wife a nun; this is the life-work of the Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Innes. The final steps will be taken in Rome.

He was a Philadelphian, the son of the Rev. Robert F. Innes, who lives in Wynnewood, and who founded the Philadelphia Home of the Merciful Saviour for Crippled Children, an Episcopal institution. Mrs. Innes was Miss Louise Smithers, daughter of S. F. Smithers, a wealthy New York banker.

They have resided in San Francisco for the last five years. He has been rector there of the Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin.

It is not because of diminished affection that Mr. and Mrs. Innes have decided to part, but because he believes he has received a call from the highest power to preach the gospel as taught by the Church of Rome.

When their separation has been sanctioned by the Pope, Mrs. Innes will enter one of the religious orders of the Church, while her husband will spend his novitiate in Rome. For more than two years since he has left the Episcopal Church and has been a communicant of the Catholic Church he has been studying with an eye single to the priesthood.

LITTLE HINTS.

Buy your veils to suit your hats, both for color and size.

Some new patent leather sailor hats are a light gray in color.

Some kind of light shoulder scarf for evening is a necessity.

Both flat bows of ribbon and silk ties are used in the smart low shoes.

Every kind of old-fashioned white or ecru lace collar or fichu is in use.

Patent leather belts and shopping bags look well with the colored linen costumes.

There are charming tailored frocks of alpaca and brilliantine for the boating girl.

The scarlet linen shoe is the most startling yet. It seems altogether too outre for the street.

Real lace matinees are worn by the many, being especially pretty with the half-sleeved bodices in vogue.

For little boys the bowl-crown, roll-brim sailor is worn, the patent leather sailor and the sailor cap being equally fashionable.

The sailor costume still retains its popularity, both for small girls and boys, and to most children it is certain to prove a becoming model.

Irish lace beading is used in place of the fagot stitch of recent seasons to obviate the need of a stitched seam. It is dyed any desired color.

Soft hemstitched turnover collars are the latest thing in Paris. They are caught together in front with a triple butterfly cravat of taffeta ribbon.

A black hat with an enormous black algrete is very French, and if made of crinoline and trimmed with velvet bows the height of chic is reached.

Behold the new white linen walking skirt—a simple, bell-shaped affair without a tuck, without a plait, with well-shaped seams merely stitched in.

A new color—peacock green—is fast superseding the extraordinary reds and curious mustard yellows that were so popular in Paris a few weeks ago.

The parasols now carried are unusually pretty; many have green and colored sticks, with bunches of flowers or

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Freckles and tan are induced by going hatless in the hot sun.

In summer great care must be taken to prevent any suspicion of perspiration and to this end soap and warm water will have to be used in generous measure.

If you lose your pocket book, don't worry about it. Worrying will not bring it back, but it will take out of your face and disposition that which money can never replace.

Don't be afraid of injuring the skin by bathing. The body needs an entirely different treatment from the face. The use of soap and lots of brisk rubbing will prove most beneficial.

Hot water for bruises and bumps every time, and when the skin is broken first a bath with clean water and then cleansing with a mild disinfectant such as a 1 per cent solution of carbolic acid. Salves and lotions semiprecious stones topping the hand-

dies.

Lace veils are always more or less popular and this year are as much in vogue as ever. This kind is always worn alone; never in combination with either net or chiffon.

Very long skirts are not now in fashion and the round-length skirts flare as much as possible, and must be very full at the bottom and also sufficiently ample at the center of the back.

Some of these linen suits in white have collar and cuffs in dull blue or red or green linen and linen spats to match are supplied, but on the whole the all-one-tone costumes are the smartest.

Bodices grow dressier day by day; and even the little lingerie blouses that are supposed to be for morning or informal luncheon wear only are keeping step with the onward rush, and are taking to themselves more intricate schemes of trimming than they ever did before.

The juice of the grape is refreshing and good for the system. The skins are deadly for the digestion and the stones (seeds) are apt to irritate the intestines. Baling grapes is tiring to weak jaws of a sick person. By far the best way is to place the grapes, after carefully wiping them, in a lemon squeezer and press out all the juice. This may be taken without water.

A girl employed downtown probably has no couch or easy chair on which to snatch the midday rest unless she belongs to one of the working girls' clubs. But she can relax even in her office when every one has gone out for the midday meal. Let her select the coolest and darkest corner of the office and the easiest chair, then lean back with eyes closed and every muscle relaxed.

A girl's idea of a trust is to have a monopoly on a voracious man's affections.

GOSSIP OF TEAS AND WEDDINGS

A FEW AFFAIRS TO INTEREST SOCIETY PEOPLE AT HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Luning left today for Camp Luning, where they will spend some delightful weeks. The Luning camp is one of the most picturesque of country homes.

COUNTRY CLUB.

Among those who entertained informally at dinner Saturday evening at the Claremont Country Club were Mr. and Mrs. Irving Wright of Berkeley and other guests at the club were Mr. and Mrs. George De Golia, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crellin, Miss Viva Nicholson, Miss Noelle de Golia, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce Jackson.

GUEST OF HONOR.

Miss Leslie Green, the fiancée of Howard Huntington, will be guest of honor at several delightful affairs before her wedding on August 19.

Mrs. Leon J. Richardson of Berkeley will entertain tomorrow for the charming little bride-to-be, and Mrs. Philip Galpin of San Francisco has sent out cards for a large luncheon to be given August 1 for Miss Green.

BRUCE WOULD.

Under a huge wedding bell of vines and pink geraniums in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, the marriage of Miss Ruth Bruce and Edwin Would was solemnized last evening. The decoration in the chapel was the loving work of the bride's associates in the Christian Endeavor Society, and over the small platform built of greens, an immense pink horseshoe, the symbol of good luck, was conspicuous. The bridal party passed through an aisle lined with floral pillars to the improvised altar, where Rev. E. E. Baker read the marriage service.

"The bride was gowned in white point d'esprit, trimmed with white ribbon. A tiny wreath of orange blossoms caught her long veil, and the bridal bouquet was white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Winnie Bruce, was gowned in pink organdie and carried pink sweet peas. Miss Florence Bruce was flower girl, and carried a basket of pink blossoms. Little Ruth Bruce gowned in white, carried the ring on a white satin cushion. Charles de Wolfe attended the groom, and the ushers were Prentiss Bée, Frank Harris, Ross West, Fred Schelgner, Chester Newell and Harry Mills.

Mrs. Alverson sang the wedding march from Lohengrin, as the bridal party entered the chapel, and Miss Helen Wold played the Mendelssohn march at the close of the ceremony.

SOCIETY AT MANY COUNTRY HOMES

QUIET ROUND OF EVENTS IN VACATION TIME—PERSONAL NOTES.

A small reception for relatives at the Bruce home on Eleventh street, followed the ceremony.

Rev. Edward E. Clark filled the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church in Porterville last week, and may take up missionary work in that place next October.

Mrs. A. E. Hall and children are spending a few weeks in Turlock.

I. W. Hodges spent a few days in Turlock last week looking for a large body of land for colonization purposes.

Dr. Lu Ella Cool-Walker has returned from a two weeks' trip to Portland.

Among the late arrivals in this city are Mrs. T. Parker and Miss Edna

Harris of Los Angeles. They are visiting the family of Mr. Andrew Wemmer, at their home on San Pablo Avenue. Mrs. Furlong's husband has been in Japan for some months, and will arrive on the Coptic tomorrow afternoon. After the arrival of Mr. Furlong the party will spend several days in Oakland and San Francisco before returning to Los Angeles.

Dr. Ida C. Barnes, one of the leading lady physicians of Kansas, is visiting at the home of Rev. William F. Fife in this city. She has been to the Portland Exposition, where she attended the National Physicians' convention. She will spend a week with her friends here, and will view the things of interest on this side of the bay and in San Francisco.

Rev. Homer J. Vosburgh will take his departure next Monday morning for his summer vacation tour. He will lecture at Twin Lakes, then go to Denver to visit his mother and brother. His brother is pastor of the Baptist Church there, and Mr. Vosburgh will preach for him one Sunday. He will then go to High and Chicago, where he has engagements to preach in prominent pulpits. He will be gone six weeks.

Mrs. M. H. Hart and Master Hart and Miss Claire Hart are enjoying a vacation at Blue Lakes.

Successful men have plenty of good friends in themselves and not many in a man's home or a woman's home. Chicago News.
